

Friday, November 05, 2004

Taleo Announces Executive Promotions

Taleo Corporation, a provider of staffing management services and solutions, has promoted Martin Morel from vice president of technology to chief technology officer, and Robert Michon from director of production and ASP technology to vice president, IT services. In addition, Taleo has also promoted Scott Pitt from finance director to vice president, finance and Josh Faddis from legal director to vice president and corporate counsel.

As CTO, Mr. Morel reports to Taleo chairman and CEO Louis Tetu, and leads the company's software architecture, development, release management, product management, and information technology teams. He joined Taleo in 2002 with more than 23 years of experience in managing technology development groups for large-scale enterprise applications software projects. Prior to joining Taleo, Mr. Morel was chief technology officer at Mediagrif Interactive Technologies' eContent division (known as Flow Systems), a publicly traded e-commerce solutions provider.

Mr. Michon, in his new role of vice president of IT services, reports to Mr. Morel and oversees Taleo's information technology group and production environment. He joined Taleo in 2003, bringing more than two decades of experience in both corporate and government sectors, where he successfully lead technical advisory, architect and analyst teams for leading organizations in North America.

As vice president and corporate counsel, Mr. Faddis continues to report to Taleo CFO Jean Lavigueur and oversees all corporate legal activities throughout Taleo. A seasoned attorney and Taleo's primary inside counsel since 2001, Mr. Faddis brings significant experience in technology licensing transactions, intellectual property protection, international data privacy and data security, technology partnerships and mergers and acquisitions to the company.